Glas Water welcomes a new client, Drybar.

Drybar is a brand new 'blow dry bar' concept created around a very simple idea: No cuts. No color. Just blowouts for only $35. You see, they believe that almost everyone (even pros) prefers having someone else blow out their hair. Why? It just looks better! They also believe that there has to be a better option than paying $60+ at a traditional salon, or going to a less-than-desirable discount chain. But there's not. So, they decided to make one. The first Drybar opens in February 12, 2010 in Los Angeles, California.

Glas Water will be supplying a 500mL (16.9oz) private label water package to Drybar. Each order will be produced on our new rPET bottle, which is made out of 100% recycled plastic! This reduces the use of virgin plastics, and helps to reduce, reuse and recycle. The custom label is finished with a clear cap on the bottle, and high quality spring water inside the bottle. Each order is only produced on-demand, and is shipped directly to the Los Angeles location.
